

Congress Convenes Today; Leaders Chosen General Assembly Organizes, Hears Fine's Farewell Talk

Severe Fiscal Problem Faces Leader Regime

HARRISBURG, Jan. 4 (AP)—The General Assembly of Pennsylvania organized quickly today for its 141st regular session and heard outgoing Republican Gov. John S. Fine describe a "severe fiscal problem" facing the incoming Democratic administration.

With Democrats controlling the House, Rep. H. G. Andrews, (Cambria) was installed as speaker of the House. Senate Republicans re-elected Sen. M. Harvey Taylor (Dauphin) as president pro tempore. Both are veteran leaders.

Desks of both the House and Senate were piled high with baskets of flowers for the colorful opening day's ceremonies, all but hiding the lawmakers sitting behind them.

Fine, in his farewell message delivered to a joint session of the House and Senate, said that during the last four years the commonwealth has progressed in "every phase of government."

"Our industries, our laboring people and our citizens are better off today than they were four years ago," he said. "I trust this progress will be maintained."

On state finances, the outgoing governor said revenue from some taxes fell short of estimates and the cost of education and relief mounted above budget allocations, all adding up to a prospective deficit of 60 million dollars in the present biennium.

"Of course, fiscal problems become increasingly grave by the proposed lapse of the sales tax," he said, referring to the Democratic campaign pledge to drop that one per cent levy when it expires on Aug. 31. It produces about 100 million in two years.

Fine, without discussing it in his farewell message, has estimated the state's 1½ billion dollar budget for 1955-57 will be 250 millions out of balance through loss of the sales tax revenue and increased costs of education and other state services.

That gives the 1955 assembly the hard choice of raising taxes or cutting costs. There have been advance indications there will be some of both.

Democrats, too, showed their awareness of the situation as Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, said the incoming administration of Gov-elect George M. Leader faces a "tremendous challenge."

"I do not know of any governor who was ever confronted with the problems that await George M. Leader when he takes office Jan. 18," Barr said in a Senate speech.

Leader will have a divided Legislature—with Republicans controlling the Senate and his own party ruling the House—the first time this has happened since 1941.

Democrats hold a 111-99 edge in the House and Republicans a working majority of 26-24 in the Senate.

Seeking an additional House seat, Democrats are contesting the seating of Rep. Abraham Sigman (E-Phil) who tied with Democrat Alfonso Parlante on Nov. 2 but was declared the winner after a drawing of lots.

Both branches adjourned after hearing Fine's speech until Monday, Jan. 17, the day before Leader's inauguration.

For new and veteran lawmakers alike, the opening of the session was a gaiety. Handshaking with friends and associates preceded the more serious business of the day.

Newly elected or re-elected legislators were given the oath of office after a ceremony certifying their election.

In the interest of harmony, Senate Republicans lined up solidly behind Taylor to elect him to a sixth term as Senate president pro tempore.

Bodies Of Two Girls Recovered

BECKLEY, W. Va., Jan. 4 (AP)—The bodies of two little sisters, missing for more than two months, were found last night within the area where searchers had looked so desperately for them.

Coroner B. B. Richmond Jr., of Raleigh County said after an autopsy today Irene and Mary Agoo, 8 and 6, simply died of exposure.

"Four play definitely is ruled out," he said.

The girls disappeared on the way home from school Nov. 1. They had stopped at a neighbor's house and the postoffice.

IN ON ORGANIZATION of the General Assembly in Harrisburg at 11:45 a.m. yesterday were Van D. Yetter (left) of Smithfield Township and William Z. Scott, Lansford. Yetter is the new assemblyman from this district. Scott is the new State senator. Both men were sworn in during organization ceremonies in the House and Senate buildings. Among those from Monroe County who attended to watch the swearing-in were Jacob Altomose, Democratic county chairman and his wife.

Petersen Given Seven Years For Revealing U.S. Secrets To Netherlands Government

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Jan. 4 (AP)—Joseph S. Petersen Jr., former analyst for the hush-hush National Security Agency, drew a seven-year prison term under the Espionage Law today for misuse of secret documents.

Sentence was imposed by U. S. District Judge Albert V. Bryan, who said Petersen had "deliberately violated both the trust and the confidence" placed in him by his government.

New Hoover Proposals Prepared

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Herbert Hoover will send to Congress tomorrow a prospectus of the forthcoming new Hoover Commission proposals for shrinking the size and cost of government while improving its efficiency.

The 80-year-old Hoover is expected to notify Congress, immediately upon opening of the session that the report will run to 17 or 18 installments. The first is due by the end of this month.

Thereafter the recommendations of the 12-member commission, some of them certain to be loaded with controversy, will begin reaching the Capitol at the rate of nearly one a week until May 31.

By then, Hoover hopes to have laid down a blueprint for action by the Congress and the White House to reduce by a third or a half the number of independent federal agencies, and for eliminating many of the estimated 1,500 activities in which government competes with private enterprise.

The report will continue the work of the first Hoover Commission, which since 1949 has resulted in 58 public laws, 29 presidential reorganization plans, hundreds of executive orders, and prospective savings estimated by some at four billion dollars a year.

Two Piers Swept By Flames Along Hudson River

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—A roaring fire swept two Erie Railroad piers along the Hudson River on Manhattan's lower West Side late today. Twenty employees fled for their lives from the blaze.

Two firemen were injured. More than 100 men fought the savage fire as it crackled through the upper part of two three-story piers that jut 750 feet into the river.

Great balls of smoke exploded from the piers. A west wind drove the smoke across lower Manhattan in a sky-darkening curtain. On the scene the pal was so dense that it blanketed from sight the flames themselves.

Nehru Paper Tells Dag To Act Meekly

NEW DELHI, India, Jan. 4 (AP)—Dag Hammarskjold was described by the Hindustan Times today as "unfortunately too Dulles-minded."

It advised the U. N. secretary general humility is the only attitude that can bring success on his mission to Peking.

The influential English-language publication, often termed Prime Minister Nehru's favorite newspaper, loosed its blast as Hammarskjold neared his journey's end in Red China. He is seeking the release of 11 imprisoned American fliers and other U. N. personnel.

A political columnist of the Hindustan Times wrote that Hammarskjold's consultations with Premier Chou En-lai's Red government "will be successful only if he observes humility and, instead of trying to justify on its merits the case for release of the U. S. airmen, asks for the gesture in the interests of international peace."

"It is presumably to make such a gesture easy that Nehru criticized the United Nations for passing exparte judgment in 'Taste,' the columnist said.

Although not commenting editorially, the Statesman and the Indian Express both reported Nehru had advised Hammarskjold not to limit himself to the airmen issue if he wanted the Peking talks to succeed.

The secretary general expects to confer with Chou concerning the conviction and imprisonment of the fliers and others on charges of spying. The airmen were shot down in the Korean War, when Red China was fighting the United Nations alongside Communist North Korea.

In Moscow today the Soviet armed forces newspaper Red Star issued a new attack on the imprisoned Americans. It said:

"These spies who were caught with the goods received their deserved punishment. It seems their American bosses should keep silent, but their impudence is so great they complain in the U. N."

Assassins Used German Guns

PANAMA, Jan. 4 (AP)—Panama authorities indicated today they may have struck a lead to President Jose Antonio Remon's assassins through the identification of weapons used in his ambush slaying.

Col. Bolivar Vallarino, head of the National Guard, disclosed the weapons which the assassins fired Sunday night at the President and a party of friends at Juan Franco race track were Schmeisser 9 mm. machine guns made in Germany.

Secret Police Chief Jorge Luis Alfaro said guns of this type have been confiscated on previous occasions from ex-President Arnulfo Arias. Arias, ousted from the presidency in 1951 in a bloody coup by the National Guard then commanded by Remon, is among 66 persons arrested in a countrywide sweep for Remon's assassins.

Two other men were killed and three wounded in the exchange of gunfire between the President's assassins and his bodyguard.

Arias was picked up Sunday night at his coffee plantation 300 miles west of the capital, and apparently is still being held there. Col. Saturnino Flores, deputy National Guard chief, said the guard is holding 46 more.

Flores emphasized that suspects were not being picked up indiscriminately but for their known "treachery" and because they had "been talking too much."

Those held include two women, Thelma King and Olga Yannis, who were at the race track clubhouse Sunday night when Remon was slain. They formerly were identified with opposition parties. Police said their presence at the track was still unexplained.

Drifts Isolate Small Towns In Wake Of Snow

LONDON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Thick, wet snow carried on high winds pelted wide areas of Britain today, isolating small towns behind huge drifts and snarling land and air travel.

Southern England and Wales took the worst of the blinding storm, which heaped up drifts as deep as 12 feet in Devon and Cornwall.

FOA Assignment Awaiting Ladejinsky, Ousted Employee Of Agriculture Department

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—A good position with the Foreign Operations Administration was reported today to be ready for Wolf Ladejinsky, bounced out of his agricultural attaché job in Tokyo by the Agriculture Department.

Officials who asked not to be quoted by name said it would be announced tomorrow that Ladejinsky would be assigned to specialize in land reform problems. His particular task would be to better conditions in non-Communist Southern Indochina.

A controversy has been raging since Secretary of Agriculture Benson ruled that Ladejinsky failed to meet the technical and security requirements of the attaché position.

Previously the State Department had cleared Ladejinsky, and FOA Director Harold E. Stassen was said to be satisfied that he measures up to FOA's security requirements. Ladejinsky won official commendation for his land reform work under Gen. Douglas

Gleason Adds New Contract For $5 Million

HOLLYWOOD, Jan. 4 (AP)—Jackie Gleason, who took a two-week vacation from television to count his money, has a new contract that may bring him five million more.

The retuned comic signed a new pact with CBS yesterday by which he will supply a Saturday night show starring Tommy and Jimmy Dugan, and the June Taylor Dancers. That will cost $1,500,000 for the 1955-56 season and the same for the next year if renewed.

CBS will have exclusive call on Gleason's services between 1957 and 1972 at $100,000 a year whether he works or not.

Jackies Gleason Enterprises will supply a summer replacement show this summer at a $350,000 fee.

All of this is in addition to the 11-million-dollar deal which he recently signed with Buick.

George (Bullets) Durgom, his manager, also disclosed that Gleason is negotiating for eight shows with General Motors during the next two years.

Next step for Gleason will be the building of a new movie studio in New York where some of the Gleason product will be filmed.

Durgom added that Gleason does not want to join the TV trek to Hollywood.

Court Cites Seven Newsme For Contempt

GREENSBURG, Jan. 4 (AP)—Seven newspaperman who defied a court order banning the taking of photographs in a courthouse were ordered arrested today for contempt.

The order—a writ of attachment—was issued by the Westmoreland County Common Pleas Court, citing the defendants for contempt of court on Dec. 28, the date the photos were taken.

The defendants are officials or employees of the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette and the Greensburg Tribune-Review Publishing Co. Both newspapers consider the action a test of the constitutionality of the photo ban.

Lone Bank Bandit Slain; Wounded Guard Owes His Life To Sharpshooting Ex-Cop

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—A retired police sharpshooter, who fires from either hip, chanced upon a bank holdup today and felled it with three shots.

The lone, would-be bandit was slain before he got a dime. A guard and a customer were slightly wounded.

The decisive, split-second gunplay in Manhattan's garment district—one of the world's most congested areas—brought several thousand curious persons converging on a New York Trust Co. branch. It is three blocks below Times Square at 7th Ave. and 29th St.

The ex-cop was William Rettig, 61, who retired from the force 10 years ago this month with a reputation as a crack shot. He is a messenger for the Franklin Savings Bank, four blocks away from the New York Trust.

"Rettig probably saved my life," Kaszuba exclaimed afterwards.

MacArthur in the occupation of Japan.

Only today a group of Jewish leaders called on Benson to reopen and reconsider his decision on Ladejinsky in the interest of "civil rights and civil liberties."

The ouster led to a controversy, and the case is now being considered by the White House. Press secretary James C. Hagerty told questioning reporters that Benson has discussed the case with Sherman Adams, chief aide to President Eisenhower. Hagerty would not confirm or deny a story in the New York Times that Ladejinsky might be offered a position in the Asian economic aid program.

The principal spokesmen who conferred with Benson on behalf of Ladejinsky today were Harry E. Schultz, national chairman of the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith, and Murray Gurfein of New York, member of the administration committee of the American Jewish Committee.

Benson had invited them to con-

Stock Margin Requirements Increased To 60 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—The government applied the brakes gently to the stock market boom tonight by increasing the required "down payment" on the purchase of stocks from 50 per cent to 60.

In New York, Keith Funston, president of the New York Stock Exchange, protested the action as inhibiting "the proper functions of the market and the free interplay of the basic law of supply and demand."

The action, taken by the Federal Reserve Board, was designed to dampen speculative fervor before it reaches anything like the pitch which sometimes in the past has produced a boom-and-bust cycle.

But officials said only recently they saw little evidence of "alarming" speculation, though the use of credit has arisen. And tonight's action in increasing margin requirements—the percentage of cash a purchaser must put up—was comparatively mild considering the fact that back in 1946 the requirement was 100 per cent.

The present phase of the stock boom has been in progress for a number of weeks. Yesterday the Associated Press average of 60 stocks stood at $156.40, a level topped only at the all-time high of $157.70 registered on Sept. 3, 1929. Today the market encountered a burst of selling but buying support appeared quickly and most shares closed considerably above their lows of the day.

Present government controls over margin trading are a comparatively recent development. In the great stock boom which led to the 1929 crash, there was no such government regulation.

The amount of credit extended for market purchases in those days was fixed by agreement between the lender and the buyer. Margin arrangements as low as 10 per cent were made under these private arrangements, and speculation was rife.

Adenauer, Mendes To Confer Soon

BOON, Germany, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Foreign Office said today French Premier Pierre Mendes-France plans to meet West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer within the next two weeks. They probably will discuss once again their accord on the Saar, which has proved unpopular among the Germans.

The White House said today other top administration officials probably will accompany the President to the special intercession and Holy Communion services.

Eisenhower attended similar services at the same church last year in advance of the opening of Congress.

The speaker-to-be released that much of his talk to reporters and said he "mentioned no names."

Members who attended the session said, however, they were left in no doubt that Rayburn and McCormack—who also spoke—still were indignant at a campaign speeches by Vice President Nixon.

They have contended before that Nixon unfairly linked Democratic administrations with softness toward communism.

For the Senate Democrats, Johnson told newsmen his party will not oppose Eisenhower administration policies "just for the sake of opposition."

On the contrary, he said, it will support the administration every time it feels White House policies are in the national interest.

Senate Democrats selected Sen. Walter George of Georgia for president pro tem of the Senate, its presiding officer in the absence of the vice president.

They also picked Felton M. Johnson to succeed J. Mark Foye, the Republican incumbent, as secretary of the Senate.

Republican House members tapped Rep. Leslie Arends of Illinois for another term as party whip.

They also re-elected Reps. Hope of Kansas and Simpson of Pennsylvania chairman and vice-chairman respectively of their conference. Rep. Port of Virginia was elected secretary to succeed Rep. Jensen of Iowa.

Senate GOP Agrees To United Front

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Democrats and Republicans set up their command organizations for the Senate and House today, clearing the way for the start of the 84th Congress at noon tomorrow.

In a series of closed-door caucuses, both parties picked the leaders they were expected to pick and the Senate Republicans agreed to try to present a "united front" on controversial issues, thus soft peddling differences within their party.

Democrats, ready to take control again after two years in the minority, promised there will be no opposition just for the sake of opposition to the policies of the Republican administration.

GOP senators unanimously chose Sen. William F. Knowland of California as their floor leader. No opposition developed in the wake of Knowland's public differences with the administration on foreign policy while majority leader in the 83rd Congress.

Senate Democrats made their 1955-54 leader, Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas, leader again for the new session—but this time leader of the majority.

Likewise according to form, Democrats picked Sam Rayburn of Texas for speaker of the House while the Republican speaker of the last House, Joseph W. Martin, Jr., of Massachusetts, was unanimously elected minority leader.

Massachusetts' John W. McCormack was returned to his old spot as House Democratic leader. He later picked Rep. Carl Albert of Oklahoma to be assistant leader.

GOP leaders who attended the Senate caucus reported agreement on a closed ranks approach to controversial issues in the about-to-begin session.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R-NH), who was named chairman of the Policy Committee, said it was decided to hold more get-togethers of all Republican senators than in the past.

Bridges told reporters the idea was that there should be "more discussion of controversial issues so that we can present a united front on the floor."

One possible source of friction arose, however. Named to the GOP "Committee on Committees," which makes recommendations for Republican members of standing committees, were both Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis) and newly elected Sen. Clifford Case of New Jersey.

Case said during the pre-election campaign he would oppose any further service by McCarthy on investigating committees. McCarthy has been chairman of the Government Operations Committee and its Permanent Investigating subcommittee. He has said he plans to continue as the ranking Republican member of both.

From the Democrats there came one indication that they expect the cooperation they have been promising to work both ways.

Rayburn told the House Democrats some things were said and done by Republicans in the 1954 campaign which he could not forgive or forget.

The speaker-to-be released that much of his talk to reporters and said he "mentioned no names."

Members who attended the session said, however, they were left in no doubt that Rayburn and McCormack—who also spoke—still were indignant at a campaign speeches by Vice President Nixon.

They have contended before that Nixon unfairly linked Democratic administrations with softness toward communism.

For the Senate Democrats, Johnson told newsmen his party will not oppose Eisenhower administration policies "just for the sake of opposition."

Ten were charged with disorderly conduct; four each for drunk and disorderly, and for driving too fast for conditions; three for speeding; two for driving recklessly; and one for passing a stop sign.

Total fines were $95, of which $20 goes to the State.

One peddler's license was sold for $25.

Stocks Suffer Setback On Heavy Selling

NEW YORK, Jan. 4 (AP)—The stock market went through a turbulent session today with prices pounded down in a heavy selling wave.

When the pressure was heaviest, the market began a rally that brought stocks well up from their lows and sent a good group of key issues ahead strongly.

The net result was a moderate setback in which price changes covered a range of between 4 and 5 points in either direction.

General Motors was the center of attention in the fall as it was yesterday when the market climbed to the second highest level in its history.

GM added 7½ yesterday in the midst of rumors of stock splits and favorable dividend action. After the close, the company announced an offer to sell stockholders 225 million dollars in new stock.

At the opening of the stock market today, General Motors dropped 6½ at 99 on a block of 16,000 shares, an indication of Wall Street's disappointment in the news as measured against its enthusiasm for the rumors. It closed off 4½ at 100½.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks lost 60 cents at $135.80. It was up $1.20 yesterday at a level topped only by the all-time high established Sept. 3, 1929, when it stood at $137.70.

The industrial component of the average was off $1.50 and rails were down 70 cents. Utilities, however, were up 70 cents. The rise in the latter component was the result of a gain of 4½ at 79½ in Western Union on good earnings prospects and a gain of 2 at 71½ in Cleveland Electric on a proposed two-for-one split.

Girl, 7, Cast In Heroine's Role As Fire Sweeps Home

RIPLEY, N. Y., Jan. 4 (AP)—Chautauque County moved today to seek custody of five young children who escaped possible death when the oldest, a seven-year-old girl, rescued her three sisters and one brother from their blazing farm home.

The parents of the youngsters, Norman and Katherine Swan, were directed to show cause in Children's Court Thursday why the children "should not be dealt with according to law."

The parents were on a trip to Union City, Pa., about 30 miles away, when the fire occurred yesterday. They said they had asked a neighbor to "keep an eye" on their house while they were away.

Mary the seven-year-old, dropped her three little sisters and one brother from a second floor window, then lowered herself to the ground.

One of the children, a six-month-old girl, received a laceration of the mouth in the fall. She was the only one of the children injured, although all were taken to Westfield Memorial Hospital for the night.

At the hospital, Nurse Grace Shields said Mary was "like a mother to the other kids. Several of the children insisted on sleeping with her all night. She's not a glory seeker, though—she just feels that it's her job to take care of the kids."

When the parents arrived at the hospital this afternoon to see the children they were served with the court order by sheriff's deputies.

Praiseworthy Decision

A praiseworthy and far-reaching decision was that handed down recently by Federal Judge Charles F. McLaughlin, who ruled that invoking the Fifth Amendment to escape testifying about Communism, sabotage and subversion is "obvious cause" for being fired from a civilian job.

This is the best news concerning the Fifth Amendment we have heard for a long, long time. During the past year the sickening exhibition of an apparently never-ending line of witnesses arrogantly refusing to answer questions about their alleged Communist affiliations or affections has been one of the most outrageous demonstrations of contempt for government and its laws in our national history.

The Marathon

There always has been an air of the dramatic about the ushering in of the New Year around the world, ever since those early days of the old crystal radio and headsets. There are the clocks striking the hour of midnight, one after another, as the New Year speeds from one time zone to another until it reaches you and zips on by. It's the one time of the year when Time becomes something you almost hear and see.

In this drama and this excitement at midnight Friday, a chain reaction of prayer was touched off.

A marathon "Chain of Prayer" that our world will know peace began winging across our nation, just as the New Year crossed the time zones, one after the other.

Many Americans began the concentrated

Ever since the first witness in cases involving the Red influence in government, or industry, or labor union affairs sat back smugly and maintained an attitude of complacent silence as he hid behind the Fifth Amendment, we have observed a continuing increase in the numbers of those who, by our interpretation of their defiance, are certainly suspect if not downright guilty.

Guilt by association or by inference may well be a dangerous affair, but one has but to study the record of the individuals who claim the Fifth Amendment or re-read the court report on the hearings at which they were called, to form a pretty good opinion about them.

prayers for world peace. As their spoken prayer ended, other Americans picked it up, and others after them in relays covering every single second of every single day of the Year 1955. Not until midnight of Dec. 31 will the last "Amen!" be spoken.

The marathon "Chain of Prayer" was organized by the Board of Evangelism of the Methodist Church, which already has more than a thousand congregations scheduled to keep the vigil around the clock, never ending for 365 days.

It is a vigil in which all Americans, regardless of religious creed, should join, each one of us pausing some time on every single day of the New Year making our prayer that good will and peace will prevail.

George Sokolsky Says...

Lamont Comes Up With Theory That Things Start With Death Rather Than With Birth

Corliss Lamont, whose troubles upon this earth seem manifold despite his good fortune of having chosen a successful and wealthy father to sire him, continues to battle a mystical and mysterious God whose ways are beyond his faith and imagination. In pursuit of such a struggle with the Everlasting, Corliss has come up with "A Humanist Funeral Service," which seems a queer way of starting a new religious worship. One would imagine that all things start with birth; for Corliss Lamont, apparently, they start with death.

In the foreword to this Funeral Service, he says: "There has long been a widely felt need for a funeral service centering around a non-supernatural, Humanist philosophy of existence. The Humanist view, stemming from some of the greatest thinkers in history, rejects the idea of personal immortality and interprets death as the final end of the individual conscious personality. The philosophy of religion of Humanism sets up the happiness and progress of mankind on this earth as the supreme goal of human endeavor."

It is actually a beautiful frame for a departure from this earth but it excludes everything that is even remotely related to the religions that are traditional among us, except a few excerpts from the Epistles of Paul. Surely no one can object to starting a man to the afterlife of his non-being (Lamont does not tolerate a hereafter, a Heaven or a Hell, for that would be unscientific) with the first third of the Second Movement of Beethoven's Seventh Symphony. Nevertheless, it does seem to me that the 23rd Psalm, "The Lord Is My Shepherd," comes closer to the heart of a mourner than a few lines from Ben Jonson's "A Pindaric Ode" or William Cullen Bryant's "Thanatopsis," as beautiful as both are.

It is not only a matter of taste but of depth of emotion; it is not only a matter of cold thought but of warming feeling. What seems to be so stirring in this funeral service is not its contents but that it should be done at all. The atheist or agnostic who takes literally the "scientific" dictum of dust thou art, to dust returneth, that man is nothing more than a collection of molecules in a special form, a mammal who stands upright and talks his hear off, is driven by the emptiness of his soul to turn to religious worship and rejecting the tried expressions of religious fervor among his own kind, turns everywhere for similar religious expression wherever he can find it.

How simple it is, in a cremation commitment, to give the soul of man to God for His mercy! However, Corliss Lamont, whose mind is tortured between the tried materials of Karl Marx and the sentimental Humanism of George Santayana, rejects the Psalms but accepts and puts into his service this little slice of Sir Rabindranath Tagore:

Romance, matrimony and child birth have been regarded as reasonable in all other branches of show business for generations. It has remained for TV to show signs of feeling such happenings punishable under the criminal codes. (Yes, there are denials that the reported hassles took place, but they were not too convincing when checked, and it looks as if the big wheels of the TV chains had stepped in with a sensible, "Listen, boys. Television is not against love, wedding rings, palpitating hearts, dizziness under full moons, Rock-a-bye Baby, Mendelssohn, wedding bells or home, sweet home. Cupid can swim any channel, and the outside aerial is not a Stark trap." Among the salt-of-the-earth-

"O Fire, my brother, I sing victory to you.

You are the bright red image of—fearful freedom. You swing your arms in the sky, you sweep your impetuous fingers

Across the harp-string, your dance music is beautiful... My body will be one with you, my heart will be caught in the Whirls of your frenzy, and the burning heat that was my Life will flash up and mingle itself in your flame."

Compare that exuberant at death with the comforting 68th Psalm:

"... When ye lie among the shepherds. The wings of the dove are covered with silver, and her pinions with the shimmer of gold..."

And when one is finished with Lamont's services for the dead, what actually has happened to Corliss Lamont is that try as he will to run from God, what he has only succeeded in doing is to return to God. Were it not so, why does he bother to bury his friends with music and poetry and prayer (which he calls meditation)? Why does he not cast the remains of his Humanists on the dustpile and leave his molecules carted away to the sea to sink in the ooze of centuries as forgotten as the flies of a Summer day? Somehow the Humanist sees the Heaven and tries to reach it by song, as do we all in our moments of sadness and despair, when we, gazing into the blaze of a setting sun, exult in the glories of God.

folks was Andrew W. Conniff, veteran Associated Press telegrapher, dead on his winter visit to his son's hotel at Key West. His wife, Lucy, long in the Connecticut legislature and a public-spirited woman to the last, died not long ago. What a grand couple in the old traditions of fine citizenship and wonderful family ties they were! With New York getting two plays about a child murderer and a couple of brothels, the news that the Jelke trial will get a return is pretty hard to take. It seems serewy to many people that a court should throw out a trial because the judge in the lower tribunal didn't erect bleachers, number the portals and put on more ushers. "Senator McClellan declared his committee would tolerate no let-up in the hunt for spies." News item. "Wanna bet?" Detroit says 5,500,000 autos were produced in 1954. The under-statement of the era, as anybody trying to find a parking space knows. They say the press agent warns Gloria, "Now, remember, don't do anything that WON'T get you into the news." Didja notice how long it took the football announcers to admit it was raining in Pasadena? The Office Republican says Governor Harriman's promise of a bold and adventurous course can mean something combining the features of a ski jump, a safari and a poker game with deuces wild. Would you say France is going to depend on a "Magi-No-and-Yes" Line? An insurance company plans to split its stock 20 for one. (Not in small type, either). Every politician these days speaks of the new "dynamic economy."

SWEDISH NIGHTINGALE

My America

Don't Make Middle-Aged Bores Out Of Youngsters

How long has this business of formal parties for 14-year-old kids been going on?

You hardly get a youngster cured of sneaking off to kindergarten without the next thing you know he's got to have a tuxedo. Dinner clothes, yet. And a corsage for some wisp of a girl who's too young to baby-sit, let alone be decked out like Zsa Zsa Gabor.

Why, I was 21 before I knew a corsage wasn't a de luxe model corset. And I never wore a tuxedo until I was old enough to join the musicians' union.

Now they have these striplings trussed up in boiled shirts before they quit talking soprano. Who thinks up these corny ideas anyhow?

It isn't the youngsters themselves. Not the boys, at any rate. Under normal circumstances they can't even get them to wear neckties. And you have to watch them closely to see that they don't skip the socks. Fancy-dress social life is not their idea.

My hunch is "cherchez la femme," as they used to say in the old stock-company thrillers. A small covey of femmes, in fact—who will not be outdone by anybody and who think the little damp-cared fledglings look so cute in their grownup clothes. They hold that it's never too soon for boys and girls to develop social graces and learn to act like little ladies and gentlemen.

Well, I hold that it can be too soon. What are they trying to prove? Is it fair to make middle-aged bores out of teen-agers before they've even had time to savor their youth?

There's too much effort to force children through all the paces before they're ready. Keep this up and eventually we'll see newborn babes walking home from the hospital and mixing their own formulas.

A child deserves a chance to be a child. It is part of his birth-right to live through all the normal stages at the normal tempo—to eat his quota of dirt, to do trapeze stunts, to cherish a pet. And especially to discover that representatives of the other sex are not wholly intolerable and to sweat through the bitter-sweet frustration and embarrassment of establishing communication with them.

The pains of that stage are excruciating enough for the normal youngster without being aggravated by premature complication with adult affections.

Personally I think these difficult social adjustments were handled best during the Sloppy Joe period a few years ago—when teen-agers established their own sartorial standards, wore faded blue jeans on any and all occasions, and considered themselves dressed formally when they reluctantly tucked in their shirttails.

There is no sense in breaking these kids to formal harness until you get them trained to say something to one another on the way to the party.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

It's great to be famous. When a national magazine bought Marlene Dietrich's article, "How to be Loved," one editor remembered that the star's good friend, Ernest Hemingway, once had declared, "Marlene knows more about love than anyone." The editor thought it would be a great idea to quote Mr. H., but felt that permission was necessary — and "Papa" was off hunting somewhere in Africa.

Hoping against hope, the editor dispatched a cable to the famous author, addressing it: "Ernest Hemingway on Safari in Africa." Two days later the cabled permission was in the editor's hand — with a postscript, "Give Marlene a kiss for me and tell her to write."

A Bronx housewife was overheard last week telling her 10-year-old son, "The French Foreign Legion you want to join yet? Well, finish your homework first!"

Robert S. Allen Reports

Ike Concerned About Laws Which Expire This Year

Washington, Jan. 5: President Eisenhower particularly stressed one matter in his conference with the Republican congressional leaders.

This is the large number of far-reaching laws which expire this year.

The President described these statutes as a key part of his "must" legislative program, and failure to re-enact them as "unthinkable."

"The lapse of these laws would cause widespread hardships and complications both at home and abroad," he told the GOP leaders. "Their continuance is absolutely essential, and in some instances they should be improved and strengthened."

He disclosed that he considers certain of these measures so important that he will single them out with special messages to Congress.

Also indicative of this view is a list of 20 expiring statutes the Budget Bureau has sent to top Democratic leaders. The Bureau did this at the express direction of the President.

The President pointed out to the Republican chiefs that while most of these laws are well-known, the public generally is aware only that a few of them will lapse in the course of 1955. As an illustration of this, he cited the Reciprocal Trade Act which expires June 12.

The significance of the President's picking out this particular embattled issue was not lost on the GOP leaders.

Last week, Representative Daniel Reed (R., N.Y.), former chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee which has jurisdiction over this legislation, went out of his way to denounce it. The President, by his pointed reference to the Act, tacitly let the Republican chiefs know that this blast was in no way deterring his avowed determination to fight for a three-year extension of the law.

Afterwards, former Speaker Joe Martin, Mass., told colleagues, "The President is dead set on this. He is going all-out and making no bones about it."

In addition to this tariff measure and the various excise and corporation taxes whose expiration has been publicized, the private list of these important measures that the Budget Bureau submitted to the bi-partisan leaders of the new Congress includes the following:

Small Business Administration —lapses on June 30.

Federal backing for 35,000 low cost housing units—June 30.

Aid for school construction in certain areas—June 30.

Admittance of special classes of refugees not included in the regular immigration law—June 30.

Naturalization of foreigners serving in U. S. military forces—December 31.

Presidential authority to fix allocations and priorities of defense materials, and to grant loans and subsidies for defense purposes—June 30.

Authority enabling the armed forces to enable the armed forces of plants and other production facilities.

Loans to veterans for home and farm purchases—June 30.

Doctor-dentist draft—June 30.

Continuance of pay and allowances to servicemen "missing in action"—June 30.

Expediting defense contracts—June 30.

Renegotiation of defense contracts—December 31.

Emergency loans to farmers—June 30; sale by Commodity Credit Corporation of food grain at 10 percent above price supports—March 1.

Veterans preference in federal jobs—June 30.

Temporary $6,000,000,000 increase in the national debt limit (to $281,000,000,000)—June 30.

Presidential power to reorganize government agencies, subject to congressional approval—April 30th.

Disposal of surplus military goods and other property by negotiated sales—June 30.

The President also told the Republican leaders that he is still undecided about seeking a continuance of the Government Reorganization Commission that is headed by former President Herbert Hoover. It expires May 31; its reports must be submitted by then. The President indicated he does not expect to ask for any extension of this special agency.

Note: Gabriel Hauge, personal economic adviser to the President is voicing concern to congressional friends about what he calls the "speculative boom on the stock market." Hauge is saying the President's economic message to Congress later this month, will contain a strong note of caution on this. According to Hauge, the Administration will apply brakes on the booming market by stern warnings rather than restrictive measures. It is feared such action might have adverse business repercussions.

Bulletins—Government agencies will shortly give a new directive against competing with private business. Under an order pending on the President's desk such competition will be strictly barred unless (1) specifically required by law, or (2) it is essential for defense.

The Army has made a significant change in the control of its research and development activities. They have been placed directly under Lt. General Lyman Lemnitzer Deputy Chief of Staff for Plans. The Internal Revenue Service, distributed an unexpected New Year "greeting" to 6,000 federal employees in and around the District of Columbia. They got notices that their pay checks will be garnished unless they settle unpaid income taxes, estimated at more than $1,000,000.

Freedoms Study Will Soon Start

—by H. G. Heller

An attempt to reconcile the seeming conflicts between the right of press freedom and the individual's right to a fair trial will be made at a series of meetings early this year by a joint committee of the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association and the Pennsylvania Bar Association.

The ten-member committee, consisting of five representatives of each association, was set up jointly by J. Campbell Brandon, Butler, president of the Bar Association; and L. Z. Buehler, Lancaster, president of the PNPA, to study "the whole concept of Freedom of the Press and Fair Trial" and submit its recommendations.

The cooperative approach to the problem by the state-wide associations stems from a request by the PNPA that the Bar Association study the questions raised by the Westmoreland news picture ban case.

In that instance the Westmoreland county court ruled that newspaper photographers should not be permitted to take pictures in the court house and its environs.

Only a few weeks before the now famous Westmoreland case, the State Bar Association had debated the subject "A Free Press vs. A Fair Trial" at one of its meetings.

A formal call for the joint study of the question was contained in a resolution adopted by the Bar Association's special committee on Cooperation with Laymen in Improving the Administration of Justice. Thomas B. K. Ringe, of Philadelphia, is chairman. Resolution reads:

"Resolved, that the chairman of the committee in consultation with the President of the association appoint five members of the Bar Association to act in cooperation with a group of five persons representing the public press to be appointed by the Pennsylvania Newspaper Publishers' Association, said group of ten persons to constitute a Joint Committee for the study of the whole concept of 'Freedom of the Press and Fair Trial.'"

The study is to be made on the premise that "our American system of democracy requires that freedom of the press and the right of fair trial both be reconciled and achieved."

The issue involved here is so vital to the lives of every citizen, no less a careful approach could be made to the study of two major freedoms and the seeming conflict which has arisen between them.

Both bodies making this study are highly responsible groups, dedicated to the preservation of the freedoms each of their professions so ably represent.

Out of their findings may come a reconciliation which would be much more effective than court litigation.

10 Years 20 My New York Ago

—by C. H. Westbrook

West Palm Beach, Fla. — The place is called La Coquille—the seashell, you believe, although they say the French also use it to mean husk or worthless leaving—and a monstrous DC 6-B has brought you here for a weekend. Times Square, the land of the sideburn and suede shoe, fades far behind you as you arrive in this toyland of the idle rich, put up a year ago by Spelman Prentice of the Rockefeller clan.

You have noted duly all the fabulous items at hand—the fabulous pool, the fabulous Eleanor Holm wearing what seems like a fabulous ermine-trimmed jacket over her bathing suit and only showing slight signs of the years, around the hips; the fabulous food, for which you are glad you are not paying the ugly rumor is that a steak costs $71, the genuinely fabulous Atlantic ocean into which you dip your fabulously fabulous shape, and finally, a motley crew of journalists, ad-men, TV people and celebrities who are not-over-fabulous.

Now the afternoon has worn on a bit, and you drift across the road to the tennis courts, where amiable Bob Murray, the pro whom you met first at Greenbriar in White Sulphur Springs, has arranged an exhibition between Fred Perry and George Lott. Perry you know is the pro at nearby Boca Raton. Lott? The last time you had heard, he was some kind of police chief in Bermuda.

From the tennis you expect nothing. These are holdovers from your, or the Cro-Magnon era, of tennis. If they have come apart as you have at the tennis, this will be farce. However, you are a tennis player and an addict and, of course, once bitten, you have the virus with you until you die.

A handful of citizens are grouped around the court and you nail one of them down and say, "I remember the first time I ever saw Perry and that magnificent running forehand. It was Forest Hills and he was playing Frank Parker, you see..."

It is time for philosophy of a sort. Twenty years ago—twenty? —the old pros would have packed Forest Hills, 13,000 strong at from $3 to $6 a head. And here they are, thickened of blood a little and not quite sure the cross-court backhand will stay in, sweating it out almost grimly before a baker's dozen of newsmen and hangers-on playing at being the idle rich. "You know," somebody says, "I always thought George Lott was a golfer. What do you know about that?"

At last Perry pulls it out at 8-6 and the two old pros walk off slowly and sit down to catch their breath. The sun is about down now and the green court is deep in shadow.

The baker's dozen claps perfunctorily and then hurries back to the bar and points west. "Well, all right then, I guess I'll wear the off-the-shoulder brocade," the fairy young thing says. The match is over. And so, if you care to be a trifle dramatic, is an era.

The ancient Aztecs grew tomatoes in their patches of Indian corn. The tomato is a native of Latin America.

East Stroudsburg Council Maps Pool-Playground Program

Accepts Plan Proposed By School Board

AN EXPANDED and revitalized borough pool and playground program is one goal of East Stroudsburg council, it was agreed at the year's first session last night.

Councilmen listened to Verdon T. Gilliland outline proposals made by the borough school board, then entered three-quarters of an hour of debate covering all phases of pool and playground activity.

Gilliland said school directors agreed to pay half the expenses of the playground and pool provided council was willing to operate under the State subsidy program.

The State program—discussed often in the past by council and finally jettisoned because the State never came across with refunds—is roughly this:

The district must conform to certain regulations in operating its pool and playground. Minimum wages and hours are set for certified personnel who must be employed. In return the State pays back 70 per cent of the salaries of the certified personnel.

According to Gilliland the salary would be about $60 a week for a 30-hour week. This would mean that to keep the pool and playground open the same hours as in the past, it would be necessary to hire two more attendants.

Gilliland pointed out that the borough would be authorized to levy up to two mills on property for a playground and pool program, but none of the councilmen presented this as a serious proposal.

Elton P. Hall finally moved to accept school board's proposal—providing the board would agree to pay half of the current expenses for the certified personnel within the current year.

Councilmen agreed it was fair for the school board to take its chance along with council on getting reimbursed by the State, and unanimously approved.

Under the State plan, total costs for certified personnel would come to around $5,600, it was pointed out.

Secretary Sterling Cramer said the pool and playground took in less than $1,000 last year. Councilmen held the pool and playground were a major asset to the borough, and should not be allowed to deteriorate, nor the program slump to the point where residents lost interest.

A side issue—mechanical equipment at the pool—brought an agreement to investigate the purchase of a large-type 100-pound chlorinator.

In a discussion of holes in the borough's streets, it was agreed that holes should be kept patched, even where the street is maintained by the State Highway Department.

"People don't know it's the Highway Department's responsibility," said one councilman. "It's their street, but the borough gets the black eye."

It was voted to extend Warren St. 763 feet. Project will cost, including road, curb and gutter, an estimated $4,681. An extension of 257 feet was ordered for State St., at estimated cost—with rights-of-way—of $2,100.

Burgess Jesse S. Flory said meter income for 1954 was up $579.29 over the previous year. The 1953 figure was $12,669.46. The 1954 figure was $13,248.85. The increase was noted despite liberal use of "free parking" days and courtesy tickets for out-of-town motorists, Flory said.

Fund balances were reported as: general $7,240.29; water $51,835.62; highway $1,279.76; and parking meter receipts, $1,160.80.

Council approved forms to be sent to all patrons on the garbage route in the borough. The form specifies in simple terms what the garbage ordinance sets out in detail: ashes must be kept in a separate can; tin cans, glass and similar debris must be kept in another separate can; and garbage . . . like food scraps . . . must be in still another separate metal container. Above all, the letter says, garbage must be kept separate from glass and metal scraps.

Council members will meet Jan. 16 to go over budget for 1955, and will have an adjourned meeting Jan. 25.

318 Couples Apply To Wed During Last Year, Trailing 1953 Figure But Matching 1951 Total

IN THE Monroe County marriage license business the years 1951 and 1954 were identical twins.

Permission to wed was sought by 318 couples in each of those years. And in both years, June returned to a "favored month" position.

Each prospective groom (in most cases) handed over $3.50 for the license . . . a total of $1,113.

Of the sum, the State receives 50 cents and the rest is divided proportionately between the county and the prothonotary. For the young people under 21, a special 50-cent "consent" paper was also necessary, to show that Mom and Pop had no objections to the nuptials.

June ran well ahead of any other month with 41 applicants. Lowest marriage license month was February with 17. Other months: January, 27; March, 27; April, 18; May, 25; July, 23; August, 33 (this was the most popular month the preceding year, with 47); September, 25; October, 31; November, 26; and December, 25.

The 1954 total was behind 1953's, when 367 couples signed the docket.

Sales Department Functions Listed For Club By Sanborn

H. G. SANBORN JR., general manager of Worthington Mower Co., was the speaker last night at a meeting of the Industrial Management Club of Monroe County.

Sanborn's topic was "The Function of the Sales Department". He summarized the activities and services of the sales department as follows:

Selling the company's production; directing salesmen to sell on terms in compliance with well-defined company policy; keeping management informed on competition; reporting changes in customer buying habits; forecasting sales on the basis of scientifically prepared and compiled data; keeping "a good set of records"; reporting needs for new products in the field and maintaining good communications with the overall operating team.

The sales department, he emphasized, is a part of an organization divided into several segments—engineering, manufacturing, finance, accounting, administration, service and sales.

"Each has its own very important function to perform and its importance is not necessarily in the order in which I have named them," he said. "Even if one of these segments is missing or is of poor quality you are in for some rough weather. Like the common chair or the table (business) needs all of its legs if it is to stand steady. Lacking even one, it becomes wobbly, uncertain, unsafe and soon loses its force and is of no effect—failure follows."

"The time when the buying public will beat a path to your door to buy your better mousetrap is with us now more because competition has compelled the other fellow to build an equally good mousetrap also," Sanborn continued.

"Without an effective sales department—of which advertising is a part—you would be unknown and your demise unheralded," he said. He urged club members to take time off and sit down with their sales department heads, study their problems and learn to understand their methods.

Scranton C-C Shows Interest In Parkway

A MARKED interest by Scranton Chamber of Commerce in the development of the Pocono Mountains Memorial Parkway has resulted in a special meeting of the convention, highway and publicity committees of that body Friday at 12:15 p.m. in the Scranton chamber headquarters dining room.

Invited to address the group were Frank B. Michaels, Stroudsburg, chairman of the Parkway Committee, and R. LeRoy Dengler, Mount Pocono, acting secretary and member of the commission.

Also invited to be present is Joseph (Jo-Jo) Lawler of Scranton, recently named by Gov.-elect George M. Leader as secretary of highways in Pennsylvania. Mr. Lawler, under the law creating the Memorial Parkway setup, automatically becomes a member of the new commission.

Both Michaels and Dengler will be asked to trace the history of the Parkway project and to describe future steps required to bring this huge 70-mile scenic parkway project into being.

In the call for the meeting the three committee chairmen say: "Recent creation of the Pennsylvania Parkway Commission has generated a new, swelling interest in promotion of the 'Pocono Mountains Memorial Parkway' for early construction. The 70-mile scenic road could conceivably open the beautiful Poconos to additional millions and bring added business to Northeastern Pennsylvania."

Chairmen are Gene Berry, convention committee; Robert J. Post Jr., highways and Joseph Howell, publicity.

Another speaker at the meeting will be J. Herbert Walker, Harrisburg, director of the state's recreation and vacation bureau. Mr. Walker will be asked to give a forecast of what 1955 has in store for recreation and vacation activities.

Company G Plans Inspection; Unit At Greatest Strength Since It Was Reactivated

COMPANY G, MONROE County National Guard unit, starts the new year with the highest company strength achieved since reactivation—55.

Lt. Richard L. Rugg, company commander, has set a recruiting campaign as a major target for 1955. Rugg is the only commissioned officer, though the table of organization provides for more. Rugg won his commission last year while serving with Co. G.

Men interested in joining the company may get information daily at the armory in East Stroudsburg from unit administrator SFC Glenn Shook from 8 a. m. to 5 p. m., and on Monday nights from 7 to 10.

"The National Guard," said Rugg, "is the only reserve outfit that can guarantee draft exemption for men from 17 to 18½ years old, provided they attend 90 per cent of the drills."

Drill nights are Monday, from 7:30 to 9:30—and for each drill, members receive the equivalent of a full day's pay.

Co. G men will have a showdown inspection Jan. 10 at the armory, displaying all equipment and clothing.

At Monday night's meeting Capt. William L. Leibenrood, unit adviser, spoke briefly on prospects for the new year.

Just before the close of 1954 rifle team eliminations were held. Winners, and new team members are: M/Sgt. Robert Lambert and Nelson Silfee; SFC's Robert Felker and Glenn Shook; and Cpl. Fred Strunk. They will enter the 2nd Battalion competition.

Falcone Goes On Trial For Murder Jan. 17

JIM THORPE — Daniel Falcone, 51, Bangor, was indicted yesterday by a Carbon County grand jury for the Oct. 3 murder of Matthew and Mildred Daneker.

The jury returned true bills to Judge James C. McCready yesterday morning. Jurors had spent most of Monday considering the case.

District Attorney Carl A. Niehoff said Falcone is slated for trial on Jan. 17.

Falcone is accused of fatally shooting the Danekers as they were about to enter Trinity Evangelical Congregational Church in Palmerton to attend a communion service.

Daneker was a 38-year-old justice of the peace. His wife, Mildred, was 36. Their killer left the scene of the slaying on foot.

Falcone, a former Bangor borough councilman, was arrested 86 hours later in Wind Gap by William Templeton, the police chief in that place.

University Women Study U. S. Foreign Economic Policy

American foreign economic policy, past, present and future was thoroughly analyzed at the meeting of the Stroudsburg branch of the American Association of University Women on Monday night at the Stroud Community House.

Dr. John C. Appel and Dr. Harold Creveling, both members of the faculty of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College presented the subject with Mrs. Claude Leister as moderator in a program arranged by Mrs. E. H. Calkins, chairman of international relations. The same program in modified form had been presented at the International Relations Study Group.

Dr. Appel devoted himself primarily to a discussion of the economic policy in the 20-year period between the World Wars and the pressures which shaped that policy. The resurgence of nationalism with its attempt at self-sufficiency in shipping and industry, brought retaliatory tariffs despite the efforts of the League of Nations. The fact that the United States for the first time was a creditor nation with war debts, loans, foreign investment increasing the balance, also affected our economic policy toward other nations who could only pay off in goods.

There was also, he said, an attempt to control Communism by economic as well as political measures. The loans to Germany undoubtedly saved capitalism in Germany. In other ways we attempted to extend credit to countries friendly to capitalism, he said.

"It is hard to stress too strongly," he said, "the fact that our foreign policy is an extension of domestic policy. Hoover, interested in lower tariff laws, was hampered by the fact that protectionist interest held control at home. The bankers, movie industry, automobile and aircraft industry were against high tariff but others, notably textiles wanted protection. The world depression and the desire to stay out of war both had great effects on our foreign economic policy," he pointed out.

The industrialization of backward countries and the emergence of organized labor also had their effect. Tariffs, however, are not the only way of carrying out economic policy, he said, pointing out that the President may negotiate Reciprocal Trade Agreements; with the permission of Congress he can manage the currency. Government loans, private investments all have their part to play in policy.

Dr. Creveling's topic was "Where Do We Go From Here?", dealing with the changes since World War II. With the world recovering from the shock of war damages, with colonialism dead or dying, with the attempt to raise standards in backward countries, with the continuance of economic nationalism, and especially with the new potential sources of power, both atomic and solar, the economic patterns are changing, he said.

As foreign aid is reduced the need for foreign trade grows more acute, he said. While the UN has been instrumental in establishing better trade relations, the arms race is placing a strain on resources and increasing the competition for strategic material. Our friends are feeling a pressure to deal with natural trading centers: Japan with Russia, Britain and France with Russia, Germany with Central Europe, he said.

As long as we have a surplus of exports over imports our own situation is not economically sound. "There are two points of view as to what could be done. The one is an attempt at coexistence hoping that through more trade and an improvement in economic conditions, the Communist countries would become less belligerent.

"The other is to attempt to isolate the Communist countries to build prosperity outside with aid to Asia as a current example. That will involve selling the idea to our friends and somehow answering their need for wider trade."

Giving his own opinion, Dr. Creveling advocated a Free World Economic Union with a long range program for easing trade barriers. We would need to protect strategic industries through direct subsidy, but gradually we could reduce the tariffs on other lines."

There might be some dislocations at first, he admitted, but it would be better than protecting industries now operating in efficiency. These lower tariffs could carry conditions for a freer flow of trade and through raising living standards, lessen the temptation to fall into the Communist camp, he said.

Both men were asked many questions from the floor, including those dealing with the attitude of labor, which were the "inefficient" industries, what would have happened if the German Republic had had stronger support, and many others.

Mrs. J. L. Cohen presided at the opening business session.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Unconsciously we build up images of what we think people in the news look like. Sometimes they do, too. But more often not.

Having read of Dr. Appel and his books and Dr. Creveling and their erudition, somehow I'd expected them to be full of years as well as wisdom, and perhaps with a goatee. So it really was a surprise to have them turn out so young and personable, and a crew cut instead of the goatee.

I suppose readers have built up their own impression of what I look like, too. The reality is sometimes not such a pleasant shock. As instance, the women talking in the reference room of the library room yesterday afternoon: "Well, I see we made the paper this morning," says one.

"I wonder if that woman who just stuck her head in the door yesterday was the one," pondered the other.

It was a temptation just to keep quiet and hear what came next. However, nobly, I confessed. Maybe that adjective should be "cravenly," because maybe I'm much happier not knowing.

However, you might like to know that so far the club women have approached international relations from the viewpoint of a woman, of economists, and next week it will be as musicians.

Music Club To Open Meeting On International Music

The Music Study Club will open its meeting next Tuesday to the general public to permit them to see the new UNESCO film, "World Without End." The film, directed by Paul Rotha and Basil Wright was secured by the committee: Mrs. John McConnell and Mrs. Charles Allen, co-chairmen, with the assistance of Mrs. John A. LeBar.

Theme of the meeting, to be held at the club rooms in the Stroud Community House, is "International Music Relations." The movie was recommended because of its highly descriptive musical background by the international relations department of the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Musical in the movie is by Elisabeth Luytens, the commentary by Rex Warner spoken by Michael Gough. It is a story about the United Nations and its people, about fishermen and doctors, rice-farmers and teachers, nurses and mothers, children and grown-ups. The story locale is in Mexico and Siam but carries a universal message of learning how to grow more food, how to live healthier lives and how to share the ideal of progress and prosperity in a peaceful world. The meeting will begin at 7:45 next Tuesday.

Early Churches Of County Theme Of WSCS Meeting

The History of Monroe County Churches was the theme of the Monday night meeting of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church. Mrs. Horace G. Walters, a past president of the Monroe County Historical Society, was in charge.

She showed pictures of the early churches, still standing in Monroe County, and told something of their history. She also had pictures of contemporary buildings in the community.

Mrs. Walters also told of the early churches which are no longer standing. The first Quaker church was built in 1811 of stone at the corner of Eighth and Ann Streets, with a later church in 1830 in Quaker Alley. The first Methodist Church was built in 1826 with Rev. Colbert as its minister.

She was assisted by Miss Elizabeth Martin. Mrs. T. I. Metzgar showed the slides. Mrs. William R. Levering was in charge of devotions based on the theme: "Family Stewards of Family Life." Mrs. Harold Stiff, president, presided at the business meeting, which was followed by refreshments and a social time.

Meet Third Thursday

The Westwood Class of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church will not meet this week but on their regular meeting day, the third Thursday in January. The meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Howard Fabel, Dreher Ave.

Driveways Should Be Modernized

By David G. Bareuther
AP Real Estate Editor

YOUR DRIVEWAY is probably the most obsolete feature about your house. It is, if you have to back out of it, or back into it. People like to make fun of the narrow streets of downtown New York and other old cities. But if those streets were planned for horses and buggies, most of our driveways were planned for goat carts.

(Don't feel bad about those remarks, because this writer has a driveway planned by an Alpine ski fan who was narrow minded.)

When you pass a house where there is a driveway with a turn-around, it doesn't mean that a timid soul lives there, or a Sunday driver. It means it's the home of a life saver. You've read news items about someone backing over a child in a driveway.

Now that there are so many cars on the road, backing into a street is a definite traffic hazard. The automobile industry doesn't like to talk much about this, because you are not supposed to get frightened about adding a new car or two to the grand total. But a former test driver, who later became an engineer and then president of the Dodge Brothers Corp., William C. Newberg, told us that he considers the average home driveways as something designed for a four-cylinder 1914 car.

(You can't get up our driveway on five cylinders, Bill, but go on.)

"Joke if you will about the lady who is accused of running down shrubbery, toys and ramming the garage," he says. "The truth of the matter is, it isn't her fault. Driveways need new engineering and we in the automobile industry realize it."

Some brave souls have solved their driveway problems by devoting their entire front lawns to paved turn-arounds. This idea has three big advantages:

1. It provides a fine unloading place when you bring your great aunt to your front door.
2. It provides parking space when somebody gives you a surprise party — the neighborhood doesn't get cluttered up with cars that are newer and more expensive than yours.
3. It provides relaxation for you when the lawn mowing season begins.

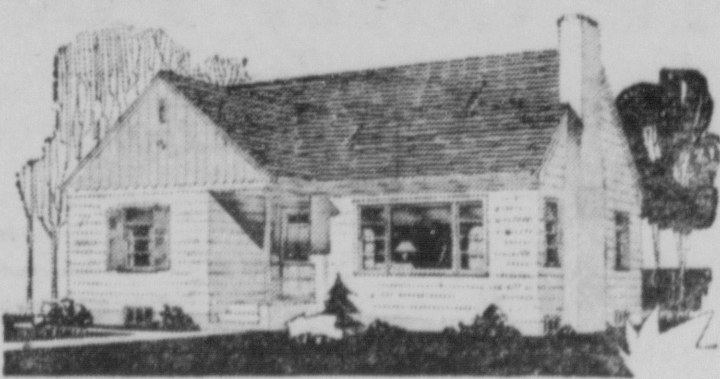

Sensible dimensions for driveways were discussed by Hubbard Cobb recently in the American Home magazine. "Drives," he said, "should be not less than 9½ feet wide to allow for 18 inches of clearance on each side." (This writer has a driveway 10 feet wide, and still people insist on cutting new routes over the lawn.)

For all turns, Cobb figures the inside radius should be about 20 feet and the outside radius about 30 feet to prevent wheels from running off the drive. These dimensions are from the center of an imaginary circle to each curb of the curving driveway.

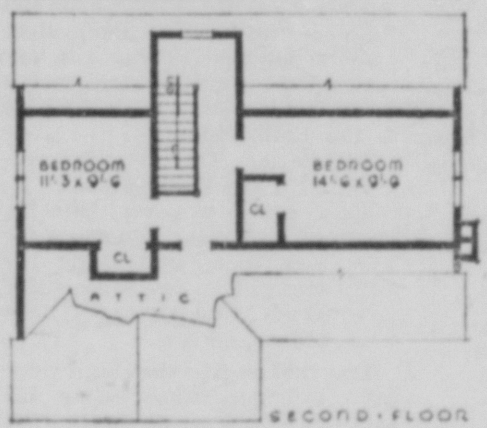

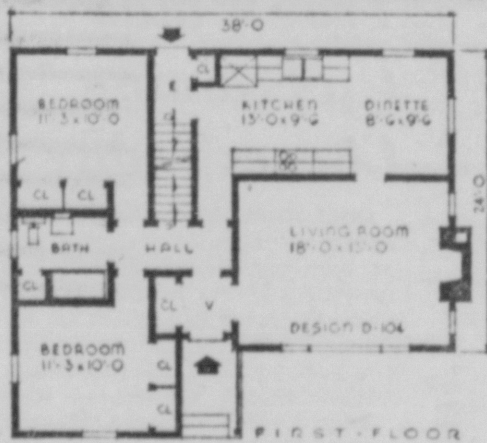

The simplest kind of a turn-around is in the form of a T with the stem of the T either in front of the house, or off to one side if you have a wide lot. You back out of the garage and into the stem of the T, then drive out, head-on, into the street.

After considerable research and experimenting, it was concluded that high fences and shrubs along the street are among the worst hazards. Also the shape of the entrance of a driveway into a street should be in the form of an inverted Y rather than an inverted T. This prevents sharp turns into traffic and affords better vision.

Speaking of hazards, the Institute of Boiler and Radiator Manufacturers says driveway snow shows

Sagging Floor Causes Trouble

IF THE doors stick at corners are difficult to close, or latches do not fit the strike plate properly, it may be due to sagging floors.

In this case floors should be leveled. The sticking or binding of a door against a doorframe also may be due to loose or ineffective hinges, settlement of the frame, swelling of the door or frame, or warping of the door.

Unless one is skilled in carpentry, it is usually advisable to have a carpenter make door adjustments.

Insects vary in size from almost microscopic to as much as 13 inches long.

eling is getting to be a leading killer of householders over 40. After one snowfall in Washington, D. C., five homeowners had fatal heart attacks while shoveling snow from their driveways.

So the I.R.B. advocates laying a grid of radiant heating pipes in driveway pavements to melt the snow as it falls. "Installation costs vary depending on the length of the driveway," the engineers report, "but the average is about $300. Operating costs may be as little as 5 cents an hour." They base these figures on a snow melting system installed at a research house at the University of Illinois.

Hot water from a house heating plant is circulated through such systems. Anti-freeze is added. A slab thickness of 2 inches above the pipes is considered adequate for the average automobile. Two to three inches of gravel are laid under the slab. The distance between the heating pipes can be 10 to 12 inches, says the I.R.B. Serpentine coils of copper running back and forth across the driveway are the cheapest to install, but a grid system of pipes running lengthwise is considered the most efficient.

"A typical automatic snow melting installation," according to the engineers, "operating at about 100 degrees, will melt snow at a rate of one inch per hour."

Wiring Is Obsolete In Many Homes

A HOME with a well-designed wiring system is a better home and will withstand obsolescence longer, according to the House and Home Finance Agency. Reason for this is that electrical usage in the home is increasing by leaps and bounds. Wiring based only on today's needs may be obsolete in a few years.

Today the average home has at least 11 electrical appliances and twice that number of lamps and lighting fixtures. Many 20-year-old homes already are electrically obsolete, necessitating widespread use of makeshift extension cords. In many cases the wire itself is too small to supply current for the larger use of electricity.

Room Looks Larger

IF A ROOM seems too small, it can be made to appear larger by painting the walls and ceiling in a light, "receding" tint. Also, painting the furniture the same color as the walls and ceiling will cause the room to seem more spacious.

Tips On Use Of Paint Sprayers

ALMOST ALL types of paint coatings can be applied with spray guns. And almost all types of surfaces can be coated in this manner.

To prepare the paint you plan to use in a spray gun, be sure to follow the manufacturer's instructions. To remove all lumps and particles of skin, the material should be strained through cheese cloth or wire screen with mesh that will do the work efficiently.

When actually doing the job, hold the gun 6 to 10 inches from the object you're spraying. Move it across the surface with steady, even strokes that are made with a free arm motion. Keep the gun perpendicular to—and an equal distance from—the surface. It's a good idea, incidentally, to practice on cardboard or another surface until you get the knack of it.

Painting Steel Can

LOST or misplaced garbage cans are a proverbial problem. One solution is to paint family names or initials on garbage cans and their covers. To insure good adhesion of paint, it is advisable to wipe the galvanized steel of the can with a cloth which has been dampened in a vinegar and water solution.

RILEY
Sports Editor

MARTY AND JACK Baldwin and their wives returned from the Sugar Bowl with the Navy football team and came back to town yesterday. The group flew to New Orleans on Thursday of last week. Although Marty and Jack have had a lot of sports thrills this certainly will be listed among the best. The Stroudsburg group was the guest of the Naval Academy at the game in which the Middies scored a 21-0 victory over Mississippi.

This scribe is just as pleased with the Navy victory as the Baldwins. Eddie Erdelatz, Navy coach, is one of the finest men I have ever had the privilege to meet. Ed was a member of the faculty at last June's Eastern Pennsylvania Scholastic Coaches Association Clinic and I for one hope that he returns next summer. The clinic is held at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College each summer.

Gene Martin, head football coach at ESSTC; Elwood "Pickles" Hintze, Dick Hintze and Tom Metzgar were among the Orange Bowl spectators that saw Duke roll over Nebraska. This group returned to Stroudsburg on Monday. The Barrett entry in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League has been granted permission to use the Barrett High court for its home games. The court will be made available to the team after next Monday.

It was a fortunate decision by the Holiday Basketball Tournament Committee that it named Tom Gola, LaSalle ace, as the outstanding player of the week-long program. Many people in the crowd were chanting the brilliant player's name before the committee decision was made public. Little doubt remains that Gola is the best in the business today and maybe even the greatest basketball player in the history of the game.

My choice for an all-star team out of the recent East Stroudsburg Christmas Basketball Tournament would be Harold "Satch" Brigham, Matamoras, and Tom Everhart, Fairview, forwards; Ken Bjorn, Damascus, center; Charley Hoffman, Moscow, and LeRoy Cyphers, Pocono, guards. The Saylorburg entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League has $500 in its treasury. The club will hold its annual banquet at the Lake House on Saturday night, at which three trophies will be presented. Trophies will be given to the most valuable player, most improved player and to the most deserving team official.

Saylorburg plans to present five trophies next season, adding one for the leading hitter and another for the outstanding pitcher. Morris Snickley, named president of the Saylorburg club on Monday, is the father of Arthur Snickley, former football star at Stroudsburg High School. Art was killed during the fighting in Korea. Willie Troy, highly regarded middleweight, is the latest to say that Harry's Farm is the best training camp he has ever attended.

Stroudsburg High may lose the services of Doug Shook for the balance of the season, which would be a costly blow. Doug's parents are now living in Scranton and the big forward is living with relatives in Stroudsburg. Shook may move to Scranton too, although he is perfectly eligible to finish out the current basketball campaign because he began the school year at Stroudsburg. A decision on Doug will probably be made one way or the other on Thursday or Friday of next week.

Dave Nevil, the other half of the Stroudsburg forward section, twisted an ankle on Sunday but appears ready to go at full speed once again. The Mountaineers are scheduled to play their first four Lehigh Valley League games on foreign courts. Stroudsburg was originally slated to play Whitehall at home this Friday night, but a change in dates had to be made when it was learned that the second contest would be played on the Whitehall court under the present setup.

The second meeting of Stroudsburg and Whitehall would have had to be held on the latter's home court, which compares very favorably with the old Monroe County YMCA gymnasium and certainly isn't fit for scholastic play. By changing the dates Whitehall was given permission to play Stroudsburg on the Catasauqua court on Friday of this week, while the second encounter will be held on the Stroudsburg High boards.

East Stroudsburg Decisions Phillipsburg High 63-48

Stroudsburg Falls Before Catty Foe, 72-64

Cavaliers Win With Strong Finish

EAST Stroudsburg High displayed a blistering fourth quarter brand of basketball last night that carried the Cavaliers to a 63-48 victory over Phillipsburg before a small crowd on the N. Courtland St. court. It was the fourth win in nine outings for the Cavaliers and the fourth straight loss for Phillipsburg.

Phillipsburg, thirsting for its first win of the current campaign, opened up a 6-0 lead over East in the first two minutes, but the Cavaliers fought back to even matters and then shift the lead back and forth like a hot potato.

The Garnettmen spurred in the last minute of the first quarter to assume a 16-13 advantage going into the second round.

East Stroudsburg, featuring a slightly different offensive pattern, came back to outscore Phillipsburg in the second round, 18-10, and maintain a 31-26 edge at the half-way mark.

The scoring tempo dropped off to a mere whisper in the third stanza during which time East Stroudsburg could account for only six points, while Phillipsburg picked up 10. The Cavaliers took a 37-36 edge into the final eight minutes of action.

Bill Sommers' long set shots, Bill Pensyl's work under the boards and the shooting of Barry Lambert and Howard Smith from the corners carried the home town charges of Dick Foster to victory in the final period.

Only one point separated the non-league rivals with five minutes remaining in the contest, but East Stroudsburg's scoring combination proved too strong and the Cavaliers rolled to victory.

East Stroudsburg used virtually all of its reserves in the last minute and 15 seconds of play.

Smith led the East Stroudsburg scoring parade with 19 points, while Pensyl came up with 16 and Sommers with 11.

John Thysen and Dick Bethman were the big guns in a losing cause, picking up 12 and 11 counters respectively.

East Stroudsburg held a 24-17 edge in field goals, while making good on 15 of 24 charity tosses. Phillipsburg hit on 14 of 31 free throws.

Phillipsburg gained a measure of revenge by scoring a 57-47 victory in the junior varsity encounter.

The Cavaliers return to action on their home court on Friday, with a strong Fountain Hill club providing the opposition in a Lehigh-Northampton League contest.

Phillies Willing To Trade Stars In Effort To Build Contender For National League Flag

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 4 (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies lost a quarter of a million dollars last year and the future isn't very rosy unless a real pennant contender is developed.

Owner Bob Carpenter said today that even the departure of the Philadelphia Athletics for Kansas City, which makes Philadelphia a one club town, won't change the ink in the ledger from red to black unless his team is a winner.

Carpenter isn't talking about the first division. He means a first or second place finish. And to attain that end the Phillies' owner claims he'll trade anybody on the ball club.

"Yes, that includes Robin Roberts, Curt Simmons, Grady Hamner, Richie Ashburn and Del Ennis," Carpenter said. "But remember, I've got to get value for value."

Carpenter is anxious to get a second baseman and an outfielder. He wants to move Hamner back to shortstop. The Phillies' owner is counting on a young, hard hitting rookie from Syracuse named Marvin Blaylock to take over first base.

Carpenter said there would be few raises handed out in the 1955 contracts to be mailed shortly. The team wound up fourth and drew 738,000 customers at home. The Phillies need to draw 950,000 to meet actual expenses. And Carpenter feels that even with a contender he'll be lucky to get over the million mark.

Gray's Chevrolet Gains Nod Over Poconos In First Tilt

GRAY'S CHEVROLET, regular season and playoff champion in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League last year, picked right up where it left off last night by opening the campaign with a 67-63 verdict over the Stroudsburg Poconos. Action took place on the Stroudburg High court.

Ray Steele led the Mechanics to victory in a game that featured "hot" tempers and the banishment of two players from the court. The former East Stroudsburg high star carded 26 points on 10 field goals and six foul shots.

Henry "Hank" Stetler, forward for the Poconos, was the big gun for his club with 11 goals from the floor and three from the foul line for a total of 25 markers.

Gray's club led most of the way but was hard pressed in the late stages of the ball game. The Tannersville crew picked up 18 threes in the first quarter, while the Poconos could account for only 11.

The visiting team maintained a 31-29 edge at the halfway point and the two clubs entered the final stanza with a 46-45 advantage.

Gray's quintet made certain of victory with a 21-18 bulge in scoring during the final stanza.

The winning team held a 25-21 edge in field goals and made good on 17 of 25 free throws. Stroudsburg, carrying the General Flooring Co. colors, converted only 21 of 42 charity tosses. The loss was the first in two outings for the Poconos.

Mountaineers Falter In Third Period

CATASAUQUA—a troublesome third quarter cost Stroudsburg a possible chance at victory last night as the Mountaineers opened the Lehigh Valley League flag chase by dropping a 72-64 decision to Catasauqua, here in the latter's spacious new field house.

Stroudsburg, holding Catasauqua's fast moving offense in check most of the game, surprisingly

Dave Nevil, Dick Little and Doug Shook paced the Mountaineers into a 14-12 lead after the first eight minutes of play, but Catty came roaring from behind in the second quarter to hold the upper hand the remainder of the distance.

Catasauqua, with Howard Case, Mike Dulik and Don Wagner leading the way, accounted for 17 points in the second quarter, while holding the determined Mountaineers to 14 counters. The Rough Riders held a 29-28 lead at the halfway mark.

Stroudsburg collapsed completely in the third quarter as the Rough Riders ran through the visiting defense for 23 points, while the taller Mountaineers could account for only 14 counters. Catty was in the driver's seat at the three-quarter mark, 52-42.

The Mountaineers fought back strongly in the final period, but the 22-20 edge constructed by the Monroe County county wasn't nearly enough to change the complexion of the contest.

Nevil, Little and Shook scored 54 of the losing 64 points with the former finding the range for 22 tallies. Little finished with 18 and Shook 14, while Don Diebler turned in the best job of rebounding by the visiting players.

Case, shooting from outside most of the time, scored 21 points in a winning cause, while Wagner and Dulik each added 15 markers to the winning total.

Catty held a slim 30-29 edge in field goals, but a sizeable 12-6 advantage from the foul line. The home team was presented with 25 free throws, while Stroudsburg appeared at the foul line on only 11 occasions.

The Rough Riders ran wild in the junior varsity contest and piled up an 82-23 verdict over the Stroudsburg yearlings.

Wilson Borough Downs Bangor To Protect Loop Lead, 71-51

WILSON BOROUGH—League leading Wilson Borough protected its undefeated Lehigh-Northampton League basketball record last night with an impressive 71-51 victory over Coach John Heard's Bangor High cage squad.

The victors trailed 13-9 after the opening quarter but pulled in front 26-21 at halftime and clinched the verdict with a 46-point final half.

Calvin Vogle's big 34-point scoring spree sparked the home team's rebound from a slow start. Vogle hooped 16 field goals over the last three periods after going scoreless in the first stanza and added two fouls. Marinelli added 12 points.

Don Keat paced the losing Bangor cause with 18 points followed by Jim Freeman's 10.

Wilson held a wide 29-18 advantage in the field goal department and made good on 13 of 17 free throws. Bangor converted 15 of 25 free throws.

The winning team, shooting for its second straight league championship, is coached by Sam Russell, former Stroudsburg High mentor.

Wilson's junior varsity made it a double sweep with a 59-35 triumph in the preliminary contest.

Robinson To Try Comeback Task Tonight

By JOE FALLS

DETROIT, Jan. 4 (AP)—Sugar Ray Robinson, appearing as sleek and swift as ever, ends a 30-month "retirement" tomorrow night and starts his calculated comeback to regain the world's middleweight championship.

The former champion, inactive since June, 1952, meets Joe Rindone of Boston in a non-televized 10-rounder in Olympia Stadium.

Robinson, 31, hopes it will be the first step leading to a June title fight with middleweight king Bobo Olson.

Robinson brought his entire "road show" to Detroit for this fight, including his manager, three trainers, valet, barber and personal physician. It seemed like old times.

As Sugar Ray went through his workouts, it seemed even more like old times. The lightning one-two combinations which ran up a 131-2 record were there, as was the nimble footwork which baffled opponents of two continents.

"I know I can still fight," said Robinson. "After the long layoff I may be glove shy at first, but that should pass in time."

"My physical condition is another matter," he added. "I've been working hard trying to get into shape. Five miles of road work every day. Up hill, down hill. Brother, I like to run but I never knew road work could be that tough."

Robinson's last fight was June 25, 1952, when he collapsed in the 14th round in the searing heat of Yankee Stadium while trying to wrest the light heavyweight crown from Joey Maxim.

Sugar Ray said he hoped to weigh 160 or 161 for the meeting with Rindone, a veteran campaigner who lost all three of his fights last year and has a 33-13-4 record.

There will be no national TV fight tomorrow night because of the one-in-four rotation which gives a Broadway show this time.

Parker Signs To Coach Lions For One More Grid Campaign

DETROIT, Jan. 4 (AP)—Coach Buddy Parker today signed a one-year football contract with the Detroit Lions which he said was bigger and better than last year and "just the way I wanted it."

Parker, who previously had certain "advantages" over last year's pact, but declined to say what they were. However, he did say the terms were "completely new."

Informed sources said Parker probably will make $30,000 as a base salary with 10 per cent of the profits as a year-end bonus, thus making him one of the highest paid coaches in football today.

Edwin J. Anderson, Lions' president, said he expected the club to make some $120,000 profit this year when the official audit is completed.

The former baseball star was in Allegheny County Common Pleas Court for a non-sports hearing. Page and his wife, Catherine, have been separated several months. They were married in 1940.

Page's counsel told the court that Mrs. Page already has been granted a court order in nearby Westmoreland County requiring the ex-pitcher to pay her $75 a month.

Page said he has paid his wife a total of $135 since last October when the Westmoreland County Court order was issued. Mrs. Page claims she has received only $75 of the support money.

Judge Francis J. O'Connor ordered the hearing continued while the Westmoreland County Court records are checked.

Page now operates a tavern at Irwin, Pa., on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Pittsburgh. He reportedly received $35,000 a year at the height of his career with the Yankees.

HARMONY Recreation League will roll on its home alleys today at 9 p.m. Schedule follows:

Alleys three and four — Ann's Eagle Valley vs. D. G. Nicholas.

Mueller Faces Legal Action By Promoter

FIGHT PROMOTER Norm Rothschild said today he would take "any legal steps necessary to restrain Peter Mueller from fighting Gordon Wallace in Milwaukee Jan. 11."

Mueller has been signed to fight Carmen Basilio of Canastota, No. 1 welterweight, in a nationally televised fight in the War Memorial Auditorium here Jan. 21.

That fight is scheduled to be co-promoted by the International Boxing Club and Rothschild's Arena Boxing Club.

"I am shocked by reading that Mueller has signed to fight Wallace Jan. 11," Rothschild said. He added:

"If he should get knocked out or cut he would draw a 30-day suspension and be unable to fight Basilio Jan. 21."

ing to a petition for letters of administration granted yesterday at the office of Registrar Floyd Butz. The petitioner said names or addresses of any possible heirs were unknown. The petitioner was one of the woman's creditors. The letters were granted to First-Stroudsburg National Bank.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 5, 1955
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Friendship influences for continuing tasks or undertakings already begun; also for starting new projects if you understand what they are about. But without, be careful about details.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—Notations to Aries consonant with your indications now. The day can be pleasant, stimulating and fruitful depending greatly on how you schedule and execute your tasks, etc. Don't worry.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—Widely varied activities and interests are in the limelight today and many of them can be advanced at least in some degree if handled in your most efficient manner. Caution advised in legal matters.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—The quality of effort rather than the quantity of returns should be the important thought today. Keep advantages in mind, too, and your every endeavor will be better. All sound matters favored.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—Don't be too fixed in thought or action lest you miss good advantages. Elasticity of procedure is essential in this progressive world; at the same time, stick to good methods, equipment.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—You have a persuasive personality. This, plus your innate shrewdness and intelligence, rightly used, can put you in "the black now." But go carefully; don't overlook good leads.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Tendencies and opportunities similar to Gemini now. It is important that you give a good account of your ability and management. Be thorough.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)—Shrewd observation of how others make out in your environment—competitors and those in similar concerns—will help you to gain a better footing on what to advance and receive more benefits.

November 21 to December 20 (Sagittarius)—Your day's program may call for extra patience. Stress sensible management if you would carry out your plans and fulfill requirements. You have the ability. Use it.

December 21 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Faster, more expert achievement can be yours now but you must put doubt and irritation behind you. Have faith in God's help and in your own fine ability. With these aids, go forward.

January 21 to February 20 (Aquarius)—Outline your course of action for the day's requirements and, without wasting time and energy on unessential, pitch in for the healthy score you can attain. Hard work, patience necessary.

February 21 to March 20 (Pisces)—An overworked program is neither sensible nor rewarding. A wise allocation of tasks, without straining, will be progressive, bring bigger returns. YOU BURN TODAY! Dignity, perseverance, industriousness and dependability are your outstanding assets.

You are usually careful and cautious in business transactions and duty work, but do not be skeptical to the point of losing out on good opportunities. And do not worry of brood. Such tendencies blur clear vision, cause you to slacken pace, can hamper your best efforts. Keep improving your education and know how in your field. For achievement is possible—even late in life.

Two Husbands Scheduled For Hearings

HEARINGS WILL BE held today before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser on two charges of assault and battery—one involving an East Stroudsburg man and his wife; the other involving a Stroud Township couple.

At 10 a. m. today, Henry Koren, of 27 Dreher Ave., Stroud Township, will appear before Bonser. He will answer an assault and battery charge filed against him by his wife Mary.

Koren was released under $500 bail Monday pending the final hearing on the charge today.

The second assault and battery charge was filed against Chester A. Ogdroski, 39, of 30 Fulton St., East Stroudsburg, by his wife, Isabelle. Mrs. Ogdroski charges that her husband beat her and their son, Chester Jr., last Sunday.

Ogdroski's hearing is slated for 7:30 tonight in Bonser's office. The Fulton St. man was released from County Jail Monday under $300 bail to await final hearing. He is also charged with breach of the peace.

Adam Laubner, East Borough, Dies At 61

General Assembly Organizes, Hears Fine's Farewell Talk

The way was cleared for Taylor's re-election when Sens. George N. Wade (Cumberland) and Harold E. Flack (Luzerne) dropped their opposition.

The post of president pro tempore holds significance because he names committees and holds membership on each himself.

In the House, Andrews, Democratic floor leader for five sessions, was chosen speaker unanimously after Republicans dropped their opposition.

Senators and representatives at their joint session re-elected S. Edward Hannebald, Glenolden, as director of the Legislative Reference Bureau.

House and Senate officers elected to handle administrative machinery were:

Senate—G. Harold Watkins, Ashland, Senate secretary; J. Fred Thomas, Sharon, chief clerk, and Charles L. Lathoro, Altoona, librarian, all re-elected.

House—Benjamin L. Long, Philadelphia, chief clerk; Paul C. Mowmaw, Waynesboro, House secretary. They replace William E.

Habbsyshaw, Harrisburg, and William P. Roan, Luzerne County. S. Edward Moore, Camp Hill, was reappointed parliamentarian.

Sen. John H. Dent, Democratic floor leader in the Senate once again, said in an opening day speech he will present legislation in "due time" to eliminate the danger of a reduction in unemployment compensation benefits.

He said only advance payments by employers prevented an automatic reduction under present law of weekly payments from $30 to $20. That cutback occurs when the jobless benefit reserve fund drops to a certain level.

Andrews in an address promised that the commonwealth's records will be open for representatives and the press.

"Doubtless mistakes will be made in the days to come," said Andrews. "Our theory will be that the way to deal with mistakes is not to hide them, but rather to cure them."

Absent from the opening day exercises were Sen. Patrick J. Toole (D-Luzerne), because of a long illness, and Rep. Preston A. Frost (R-Centre).

Dag's Mission To Disclose Reds' Intent

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

AP Foreign News Analyst

THE FATE OF Dag Hammarskjöld's mission to Peiping probably will illuminate to some extent the future of Red China's policies.

If the U. N. Secretary General succeeds in producing the promise that American fliers imprisoned by Red China as spies will be released, it will surely mean that Peiping is of a mind to make a big play for United Nations recognition.

Such a gesture would be considered by the neutralist world to be highly conciliatory and to bolster Peiping's claim to U. N. membership. However, the move would lose its value if Peiping should continue its noisy saber-rattling over the issue of Formosa.

The Red Chinese regime is totalitarian and thus has a flexibility in maneuvering. With such flexibility at its command, Peiping would gravely disappoint the Indians and others of the world's neutralists if it continued to threaten the peace of Asia by words and deeds.

Thus, if the Americans are to be released, the move must be followed up by other Peiping gestures which would nail down the benefits thus acquired in the influencing of world opinion.

India's Prime Minister Nehru, a leading neutralist spokesman, seems to be reasoning along such lines. Here, to the Indian way of thinking, might be a chance to achieve something significant in the quest for peace, a chance which should not be bootied by Peiping. If Nehru seems to be sulking at Hammarskjöld's mission it may be that he thinks the secretary general should offer some lure to Peiping to make the wanted gesture more attractive.

Peiping has had things pretty much its own way on this issue, which now reaches a climax with the arrival of the world organization's representative, hat in hand, to plead for release of the Americans. Peiping has made face.

The cool reception apparently given Hammarskjöld in China, plus the background music supplied by Moscow in advertising its faith in the Chinese spy charges against the Americans, both can be part of the window dressing toward making the gesture look magnanimous.

If there is no Peiping response to the plea, then neutralist leaders can only reckon that the Red Chinese are not too interested in recognition by the U. N. If that should turn out to be so, Asians would be more nervous than ever and much of the blame would rub off on Peiping. From a standpoint of logic, therefore, it would seem the chances for release of the Americans were rather good. The cost would still be high.

Unusual Set Of Rules Dictate Behavior Of Legislators Inside Houses Of Congress

By ARTHUR EDSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 4 (AP)—Congress goes to work, more or less, tomorrow, so it's a good time to pass along a few tips on proper congressional behavior.

A congressman should, for example, doff his hat—or his cap, if he's a sporting man—before making a speech. The rules say so.

During debate no congressman should call another congressman by name, even if he's an old friend. Nor should he say "you." The correct parliamentary procedure is to refer to the gentleman or gentlemanwoman from whatever state he or she is from.

No matter how his oratory may have been bowled over the voters in Shell Knob, Mo., a representative or senator should remember that he can't go barging onto the floor with much hope of swaying the course of legislation. This particularly true in the House, where the experts give this opinion:

Q: Is legislation much influenced by oratory? A: Not much. And if the frustrations of his job threaten to drive your congressman to drink, let him first ponder this: The last saloon bar was taken out of the Capitol in 1903.

These, and other nuggets, have been mined from two sources: Material collected by Rep. George Dondero (R-Mich.) for a previous Congress, and from a series of questions and answers Rep. Wright Patman (D-Tex.) worked out for constituents.

Ever wonder why the President has no fancy title? Well, Patman explains that, too.

When the government began the Senate wanted him to have a title and thought up a jhm-dandy: "His highness, the President of the United States and protector of their liberties."

In the House, James Madison was strictly a non-title man. When the time came for each branch of Congress to reply to the President's inaugural speech, the House replied first, addressing him sharply as "the President of the United States." Reluctantly, the Senate followed precedent.

Which is why today a governor may be "his excellency" and a justice of peace "his honor" but the chief executive is plain "Mr. President."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 5 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
